RAPID-FIRE R&D

We know there is a lot of great BPA research out there and that many researchers need discipline experts to connect with their work in order to collect data. This session is for you!

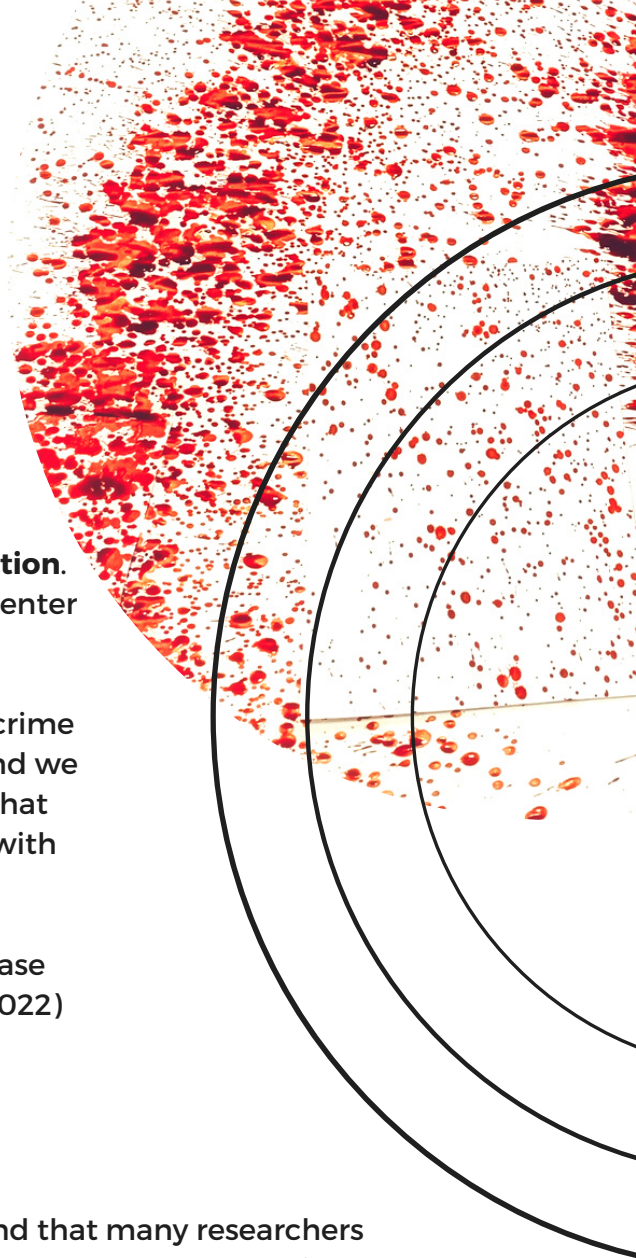

If you have published work and/or are conducting research in BPA and want to share your news, please get in touch. We are particularly keen to hear from early-career researchers.

Showcase the highlights of your research through a series of rapid-fire sessions (10 minutes), and connect with discipline experts to complete surveys or help test your methods. There will be a research space where you can share more details of your research, conduct surveys & chat with delegates during the breakout sessions. There is also an opportunity to submit digital media which we will disseminate to participants as part of our social media strategy.

EMAIL: iabpa2022@gmail.com to register/book your place (Limited spaces, closing date for submissions: 5th June 2022)
